MOUNTAIN EAR
Jeanette Aishford

If you haven't seen the OH CANADA Eh?! Dinner Show, you really should take your company and go. We took advantage of the grand opening special for Bow Valley residents last Friday and really enjoyed ourselves. Other people in the audience seemed to find it most entertaining as well. The building is impressive — I liked the wood they used and every seat in the house is a good one. The menu is all Canadian — French Canadian Pea Soup, Nancy and Lorne Green Salad, Roast Beef, Alberta Grade Eh?!, Fresh Atlantic Haddock, Roasted Chicken, Prince Edward Island Spuds, Medley of Vegetables and Maple Chocolate Cake. And of course Canadian wines and beers are available. The enthusiasm of the cast-members as they serve you and entertain you is exemplary. The local component of the cast consists of Heather McLennen, Ryan Johnson, Holly-Anne Holst and Justin Enns. The music is Canadian and Pierre pointed out to Americans in the crowd that they may have been surprised to learn that many well-known hits were in fact written by Canadians. The costumes are well thought out and the staging clever. The canoe scene was my favourite — made me think of Pierre Trudeau. I really appreciated their Moose Paper. For example "You know when you're from Canada when...you design your Hallowe'en costume to fit over a snowsuit, the trunk of your car doubles as a deep freeze and you know that Mounties 'don't always look like that." And of course "You Are a True Canmoron if... you own a painting of your favourite mountain scene, you know better than to put away your snow shovel, you own a dog, you own a bike, your bike is worth more than your car, your skis are worth more than your car, etc." Personally, I think Canmore was long overdue for entertainment such as this — it's great for tourists in the evenings (gets them out of shopping in Banff) and I encourage everyone to support this endeavor. Wishing continued success to Vijay Domingo and partners!
